POTENTIAL Public Safety Power Shutoff (PSPS) Events for Southern California Edison (SCE)

The California State Warning Center (CSWC) received notification from Southern California Edison (SCE) advising that they have notified customers of a potential Public Safety Power Shutoff (PSPS) due to the anticipation of forecasted high winds today, 12/31/18, through Tuesday, 01/01/19.

- At this time, SCE has circuits in four counties in Southern California that they anticipate monitoring beginning late tonight as per their PSPS protocols – Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, and Riverside.
- These circuits have not been proactively de-energized at this time, and these circuits are currently for monitoring only.
- Initial notifications have been made by SCE to the county emergency management agencies in each of these four counties; customer and government personnel notifications were also made 12/30/18.
- Cal OES is working closely with SCE and will provide updates as the situation evolves and details become available.

WEATHER OF CONCERN

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

Winds

- Advisory-level, high winds are expected across the Sierra Nevada, foothills and valley locations today through Tuesday.

Cold Temperatures

- Some of the coldest temperatures of the season are expected over the next few days with impacts to vegetation, unprotected plumbing, and sensitive populations. Numerous cold weather products have been issued by the National Weather Service due to expected freezing temperatures throughout the region. See links below.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Winds

- Moderate to Strong Santa Ana winds with cold temperatures are possible across southern California today, 12/31/18, through Tuesday, 01/01/19.
- Periods of hazardous fire conditions are possible for portions of Los Angeles and Ventura Counties due to low fuel moisture, low humidity and gusty offshore winds.
 - A Fire Weather Watch is in effect from 1000 hrs Tuesday, 01/01/19, through 0800 hrs Wednesday, 01/02/19, for Los Angeles County Mountains due to moderate to strong northeast winds and low relative humidity.
 - A High Wind Watch is in effect this evening, 12/31/18, through late Tuesday night, 01/01/19, for portions of San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego, Orange and Los Angeles Counties, Santa Ana Mountains and foothills, and the Inland Empire.
 - Northeast winds could be high as 55 mph, with gusts to 75 mph; the strongest winds are forecast to occur through and below the passes and canyons along the foothills.
 - Potential impacts include; downed tree branches, airborne debris, and possible power outages. Gusty winds could also impact the Rose Parade.

Cold Temperatures

- Some of the coldest temperatures of the season are expected over the next few days with impacts to vegetation, unprotected plumbing, and sensitive populations. Numerous cold weather products have been issued by the National Weather Service due to expected freezing temperatures throughout the region. See links below.

Key Points

12/31/18 - 01/06/19

Monday - Wednesday

- Strong winds out of the north will continue across much of the state with the strongest winds over Inland and Southern Regions. Wind speeds of 40-50 mph with gusts in excess of 60 mph are possible over foothills and through mountain passes.
 - Impacts include hazardous driving condition, airborne debris, downed tree branches, potential power outages and reductions in visibility in blowing dust (mostly southern region).
 - Hazardous fire weather conditions are also expected across San Bernardino and Riverside county valleys, the Inland Empire, Santa Ana Mountains and Foothills, and Orange County Inland areas through Tuesday night due to strong winds and low relative humidity.
- Mostly dry conditions with sunny skies will prevail across a good portion of the state – the exception being extreme southern region today where there is a chance for rain. Any rain that falls will be beneficial with no impacts expected.
- Some of the coldest temperatures of the season are expected over the next few days with impacts to vegetation, unprotected plumbing, and sensitive populations.

Thursday - Sunday

- Cold temperatures and strong winds will start to moderate Wednesday. The next weather system to impact the state will start to move through Thursday/Friday with a chance for precipitation statewide. No impacts expected at this time.
